

O₄ research

All together a brighter future

We believe that clinical research benefits us all, that's why our aim is to deliver innovation through collaboration, placing the patient at the heart of every process so all together we can achieve a brighter future.

About Us

O4 Research is an innovative CRO which provides dynamic trial management solutions to the pharmaceutical, biotechnology and medical device industries across phase II-IV, Non-Interventional, Real World and Investigator Led Studies. We specialise in services ranging from specific study functions to a full service platform across a wide variety of therapeutic areas.

Operating throughout the UK and Ireland and with partners Europe-wide, we provide an alternative, proactive trial management approach which is in sync with today's unprecedented challenges. Our extensive experience ensures effective and creative solutions at every stage, facilitating consolidation of timelines whilst maintaining the highest quality standards.

At O4 Research we ensure that a dedicated team is assigned to each project and is configured to meet specific requirements. We work closely, creating a feeling of positivity and enthusiasm which extends to our collaborations with Sponsors and study participants.

Our aim is to deliver innovation through collaboration by placing the patient at the heart of our thinking.

The benefits of this patient centric approach resonate across all aspects of our studies by creating a strong identity and dynamism around each study. This ensures that your project, large or small, becomes and remains a priority for all involved.

Why Choose O4 Research?

Competitive Collaborative Partner:

We are a transparent partner who believes a collaborative approach holds the key to the success of our business and leads to a mutually respectful relationship with our clients. The inherent efficiencies of the O4 business model allow us to be commercially competitive by reducing the large overheads other large CROs incur, translating into significant savings for our clients.

Project & Site Management Excellence:

At O4 Research our clients can be assured that an experienced Clinical Project Manager will lead the team and act as their primary contact from project start-up to completion. Our team creates a customised site management programme for all studies, from the smallest through to the most complex and our research passion allows us to conduct our clients' studies as if they're our own.

Flexible & Agile Approach:

At O4 Research we offer our clients an unparalleled degree of flexibility in the role we can play to support their projects. In addition, our agility means that decisions are made quickly, timelines are consolidated and momentum is maintained throughout our projects.

Full Service & Functional Capability:

At O4 Research we can offer our clients a full service option, taking our clients from study concept, through the approval process, risk based monitoring, data management and much more. Alternatively, we are able to integrate seamlessly with the clients' team and provide support with specific functional tasks within the project. At O4, we simply want to help make a difference and can get involved at every step of the way!

Quality Focused Approach:

O4 Research recognises that in our highly regulated industry, quality is paramount. That is why quality underpins everything we do at O4 Research, and why our clients can be assured that we deliver our projects to the highest of standards.
